

Members of the Board,

I have for the past year scanned many items for the FRRS including photographs and paper items included in the Meeker Collection. The approximate number of items scanned is 5,000 which includes photographs and paper items.

All items were checked out and returned to the storage area in Reno in accordance with the current Policies and Procedures and with the knowledge of Kerry Cochran and Eugene Vicknair.

A majority of the photographs used in the presentation I wrote documenting the first through passenger train on the WP for the 2018 convention in Salt Lake City which was presented by Eugene Vicknair are from this collection.

At this time, I would like to ask permission for use of photos from the Meeker collection for use on my web site, Western Pacific Railroad History Online, www.wplives.com . Images displayed on the web site are generally 96 dpi and of a size which is great for computer display but less so for printing.

Specifically, I would like to use photos that pertain to construction of the WP, the first through passenger train, the 50th anniversary of the first through passenger train, the California Zephyr, the Ruby Jubilee and the movie Cinerama Holiday of which parts were filmed on the WP.

I would also like to have use of the scanned paperwork as research material for the items on the web site. Everything currently on the web site now has come from information gleaned from magazine and newspaper articles as well as available books on WP history. Use of this paperwork would greatly enhance and help in my endeavor to tell the history of the WP.

The number of items that would be used on the web site are minimal compared to the total number of items in the collection, most would be used in conjunction with text articles on the site. None would be used in a printed format such as a book.

I make this request in accordance with AWKRRL Collection Reproduction and Use Policy R2, Sections 1, 4 and 5. Currently there is not a master catalog of archive items therefore it would be difficult to identify individual items except by file names assigned by the person who scanned the material.

If permission is granted as requested the AWKRRL Collections Materials Release R-2 11-01-2017 would be completed. Identifying individual items would be the same as stated in the previous paragraph.

I thank you for your consideration in this matter.
